

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A probe needle apparatus and method provides a driven guard having the same potential as a probe needle for reducing signal noise in low current measurements. The probe needle apparatus includes a central conductive probe needle covered with alternating layers of dielectric and conductive materials.